40¢ Minimum Boost Needed

Jefferson Elementary District Enrollment Necessitates More Income

An election to raise the tax rate of the Jefferson elementary school district is slated for early this year, THE RECORD learned today.

The present tax rate for operations is 92 cents per $100 valuation. An increase of at least 40 cents will be requested.

H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of schools, outlined the need for such a tax boost at the regular meeting of the school board last Thursday evening, and before the Parent Teachers Association coordinating committee, Friday.

"The operating costs of the district are rising at a greater pace than the income," Weibel said.

He asserted the only possible ways to meet this condition are:

1. Reduce expenditures by reducing school services and personnel.

2. Increase the income for the district by upping the tax rate.

Election

The latter course has been decided upon by the district, and has received the approval of the PTA coordinating council.

Jeff High Tax Election Postponed

The February 26 election to maintain the 60 cent maintenance tax for the Jefferson high school district has been postponed, Stanford Hannah, superintendent, said today.

Legal complications in the matter of posting and publishing the date of the election have caused the delay, Hannah explained.

Probable date of the election will be May 16. Voters will decide whether to continue the 60 cent levy which has been in effect here for the past five years.

Westlake Piped Into Local Water Supply

Westlake residents this week were introduced to Daly City well water.

Last Wednesday noon the area west of Junipero Serra boulevard was hooked into the Daly City water system. This eliminates a $2,000 monthly bill from San Francisco for water to Westlake.

Garden Village School Contract Awarded Friday

New Wing To Reduce Double Sessions

Relief was in sight today for double sessions in the Jefferson elementary school district.

H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of schools, announced the school board has awarded a $223,888 contract for construction of a six classroom wing to the Garden Village elementary school.

Expected to be completed by the 1952 fall session, the school will accomodate 250 lower grade students.

There are now four classrooms on double sessions. The new structure will eliminate this emergency measure...at least for a time.

"However, at our present rate of growth this does not spell an end to double sessions," Weibel said.

Two Wings

Designed by Architect Mario Ciampi, the structure will be built by the H. L. Peterson Company of San Francisco. There will be

Korean Veteran Calls For Blood

January 21, 1952
Taegu, Korea

Dear Editor:

Just finished reading the December 13 edition of THE RECORD. As always, enjoyed every article, except the one entitled "Blood On Our Hands."

I realize there are people not physically able to give their blood, but I know there are many others who are. I have given blood myself, and know it isn't painful. Besides it doesn't seem like much compared with what some of the boys over here give. Seems like they don't care too much if you ask me.

I wish that each and every person in Daly City and vicinity could spend just one day here in Korea. I'm sure they would have a very different outlook on the Korean situation.

Sincerely,
Cpl. Byron D. Kimler

. . . BUT THESE DO

A tenth donation of blood was given to the San Mateo County blood bank recently by Tiburcia Gomez of Daly City.

Martin Rist, Jr., of Colma, gave his third donation.

First donors included: Emil Wedel, T. G. Kirschner, Thomas Byrne, K. E. Gollehan and Albert L. Edgman, all of the Daly City, Colma area.

Hot Debate Slated

Corso Spikes Rumor Of Petition To Join Broadmoor To Daly City

Broadmoor Association Head States Meeting To Discuss Question Is Slated

Rumors of a petition circulating in Broadmoor for annexation of that area to Daly City were spiked today by a member of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association.

Frank Corso, 784 Maddux drive, told THE RECORD he is interested in such a move, but "I have no petition in circulation." He said the matter is still in the "discussion stage."

It was he who started the hot debate three weeks ago when at a city council meeting he asked Mayor Paul Green what steps were necessary for Broadmoor to join Daly City.

"I still have to work out those details. Until then, I do not intend to circulate a petition," Corso said.

It was just two years ago that the 5,000 home owners in Broadmoor scuttled a similar plan for annexation. Since then, the debate has been confined to verbal eruptions and behind-the-scenes manuplations by those interested in annexation.

However, Corso statement does not mean a finish to the hot debate. Indications are a special meeting of the Broadmoor Property Owners association will be called shortly to sound out the opinions of residents on the subject.

Walter Thomas, 868 Beechwood drive, president of the association, said a meeting will be called in the "near future." He noted the regular meeting of the group will be held February 12, and out of that may come the date of the special conclave.

Asked as to the sentiments of Broadmoor residents on the subject, Thomas said: "At the present time neither the pro or con annexation parties have a majority."

He added feeling was pretty well divided among the 1500 Broadmoor homes.

In order to join Daly City, residents of Broadmoor will have to petition the local city council for approval, and then hold a special election.

COUNCIL RULES APRIL OUT FOR BOND ELECTION

Indications today were that the proposed $150,000 bond election to complete the Community Center building will NOT be held April 8.

City councilmen contacted by THE RECORD this week seem to favor an election...but not until a later date, possibly during the June primaries.

COURTS MAY HOLD UP BRUNSWICK EXTENSION

Where bad weather has held up work on the extension of Brunswick street this month, the courts may cry "halt" in February.

Two cases pertaining to the street are slated for hearing.

February 8, the district court of appeals will hear H. H. Smith's contentions that the city should pay him more for the Brunswick property. The former Daly City mayor was awarded $4,465 by the San Mateo superior court.

Frank Blum will represent the city, while the firm of Gardiner Johnson will speak for Smith.

On February 20, the San Mateo superior court is to decide whether an injunction to stop work on the street is in order. Smith asserts the street work is damaging property he owns on either side of the extension from Wellington to Hillside boulevard.

Pole Falls On Julia Romero, 8,

Child Hospitalized; Parents Seek Damages

Mr. and Mrs. Julio Romero, 41 Forest Grove, have retained an attorney to collect damages for the injury suffered by their daughter, Julia, 8, when a telephone or telegraph pole fell on her while she was playing in the Westlake school yard Monday. Westlake school was only recently completed.

Julia was taken to the Junipero Serra hospital, Daly City, where several stitches were taken in the top of her head and she was, according to the hospital, treated for lacerations of the scalp. The attorney retained by the father and mother, Joseph E. Isaacs of San Francisco, told a RECORD reporter that the child suffered a nasty concussion.

Mr. Isaacs said he was bringing suit against the Jefferson Elementary School District, the contractor who installed the pole and either the telegraph or telephone company, whichever is the owner of the pole. Mr. Isaacs, to the time of THE RECORD going to press, had not yet determined who owned the pole.

Julia was returned to her parental home Tuesday afternoon, where her mother said the child was in considerable pain.

CITY TREASURER SEEKS ELECTION

City treasurer Paul Selmi told THE RECORD today he will seek re-election to that post April 8.

The former Daly City mayor and local real estate man is expected to be unopposed for the $75 a month position.

He has held office for the past four years, having taken over from Mrs. A. L. Stockton, who was city treasurer for over a decade.

Assn. Membership Looms As First Political Issue

Business Men To Discuss Topic

The opening gun in the 1952 Daly City political fracas is slated to boom, at a special meeting of the Daly City Merchants association Monday, February 4.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the pros and cons of the city's recent cancellation of its membership in the California Mission Trails association.

Political observers point out this will be a splendid opportunity for Daly City politicos and aspirants to "sound off" for the support of local business men.

Basic issue involved is whether or not Daly City should spend $250 a year for membership in the Mission Trails association. Mayor Paul Green, and evidently the city council, has given an emphatic "no."

Mayor's Point

In a letter to the association Mayor Green is reported to have explained the city does not feel it can suport a "tourist" business. The rejection was also based on the association's upping its annual membership fee by $100.

On the other side of the political fence is Hugh Smith, Jr., manager of the Mission Bell Motel, 6843 Mission street. The son of Daly City's ex-mayor, and former aspirant to the city council, he objects to the city's actions. Smith claims the Mission Trails association is an unofficial chamber of commerce for the greater Daly City area.

The merchants are to decide whether Mayor Green, and his faction, or the Smith supporters, are correct. There is still some question what will happen if the business men back Smith, as the mayor has already officially rejected membership in the association.

Issue

A city official told THE RECORD today that this will be a political side issue in the city council elections, April 8.

Frank Lombardi, president of the merchants association, invited the public to attend the meeting.

"I hope we have a large turn out," Lombardi said. "This may prove whether or not business men really have an interest in their community."

The meeting is slated for 8 p.m. in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

WESTLAKE SCHOOL DEDICATION SUNDAY

An invitation to all Jefferson elementary district residents to attend the dedication of the Westlake school was made today by H. Z. Weibel, superintendent.

The dedication ceremony will take place at the new school at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, February 3.

The complete program will be found elsewhere in THE RECORD.

Westlake Group Opposes Zoning Near Lake Merced

Formal Protest Entered By Residents

The following is a letter by a group of Westlake residents, represented by Albert Altman, in protest to zoning of the Lake Merced—El Portal drive area in Westlake.

A public hearing is slated on the issue at the regular meeting of the city council, Monday, February 11.

The Record
Editor:

We want to enter this as our formal protest to the proposed zoning of Parcel H. Our reasons for this protest are set forth herein:

(1) At the time we purchased our property we were advised by the salesman of the Doelger organization that the then vacant corner of El Portal and Wilshire was to be the site of Henry Doelgers new home and upon asking what was to be done with the vacant area to the west of El Portal

MRS. CHEATHAM STILL UNDECIDED

Mrs. Helen Cheatham, only member of the Jefferson elementary board of trustees up for re-election this May, told THE RECORD today she is undecided whether to seek a second term on the board.

A controversial figure in the resignation of Superintendent of Schools James Snell, Mrs. Cheatham has been outspoken in support of issues she firmly believes are for the good of the district.

A Broadmoor police commissioner, Claude Hanrahan, has indicated he is out for Mrs. Cheatham's job, regardless of whether she decides to seek re-election or not.

Council Hears Plea For Parking Meter Advertising

Hilltop Cab Protests Second Cab Company

Before a record size audience of 40 residents, an impassioned plea was made at the Monday night city council meeting for adding advertising plaques to local parking meters.

This was the highlight of a conclave which saw George Kirchhubel, co-owner of the Hilltop Cab company, protest an application for a second cab company in Daly City.

Walter Cribbins, a representative of the Park-Ad company of Delaware, requested the council allow his company to place the advertising plaques on meters.

The triangular metal signs would carry the message of national firms, and of some local business men.

Cribbins explained the city would receive 20 per cent of the gross receipts . . . about $10 a year for each meter, or a total of approximately $4,000 a year. This is on the assumption all the meters are used for advertising.

Letter

The council was first introduced to the plan with a letter from the Park-Ad corporation. The letter

Tromborg Enters Council Race

Other Candidates Still Undecided

Thomas Tromborg, 44-year-old Daly City plumber, told THE RECORD this week he will be a candidate for the city council election, April 8.

Two men now have made definite statements as to their intentions. Also in the running is Ed Dennis, former city councilman and president of the milk wagon drivers union of San Francisco and San Mateo county.

A long time resident of Daly City, Tromborg operates a plumbing shop at 6512 Mission street. He is the father of two children, and can brag of three grandchildren.

Althcugh he says he still has no definite platform, he asserts he is generally for better transportation and a move to wake residents to the fact they are living in a "city not a little town."

Two Seats

Two council seats will be on the April 8 ballot.

Candidates have from February 8 to noon of February 28 to file with the city clerk.

Hat in hand, but still wondering whether to toss it in the ring are:

Daly City Florist

Creator Of Outdoor Movie Sets

By CAS GLOWACKI

A Daly City florist was recruited this week to lend his artistic and scientific knowledge to the turning of a cold, damp, dreary San Francisco winter scene into the light, warmly-mild, green of fertile summer.

This miracle of climatic metamorphosis was performed for the sake of a forthcoming movieland super-colossal cinama opus; for the sake of beauteous and glamorous Joan Crawford of perennial movie fame; for the sake of Art—capital "A" there, please; and, lastly but with no less loving solicitude, for HOLLYWOOD—solid caps on that last one, linotyper.

When the Joseph Kaufman Productions of Flickerville left the land of make-believe to produce this epic of pictorial art in an all-San Francisco locale, they knew they would find an experienced hand at outdoor props in George Kelly of the Westlake Flower Shop, 393 S. Mayfair.

They had such assurance because, prior to re-entering the world of reality, Mr. Kelly had spent several years on Hollywood movie lots as an artist who created bona fide exterior scenes—or reasonable facsimilies thereof—against which scores of movies had been "shot."

Thus—if we MUST finally come to the meat of this dissertation on how Hollywood changes seasons to suit its own compelling purposes—it came to pass that the Daly City florist was called on to make a cheerful summer background out of a depressing wintery one at Scott and Green streets in our neighboring metropolis, for a movie which is to be released under the title of "Sudden Fear."

Mr. Kelly and his assistants labored three days to achieve the exact replica of summer in San Francisco in January. To accomplish this phenomenon one week not a little legerdemain was

Lewkowitz Out

Meanwhile, another suspected candidate, Joe Lewkowitz, told THE RECORD today that he definitely is not interested in seeking election to the city council.

As manager of the Daly City Super Service station, San Jose and Mission streets, Lewkowitz says his business does not permit him to be a candidate.

"I value the friendship of those who urged me to run, but business interests prevent this," Lewkowitz said.

However, he added, he will continue to serve the community as chairman of various drives and in any other way necessary to better the town in which he lives.

40c Minimum Boost Needed

Date of the election to up the tax rate has not been determined, although it probably will be in May.

"The exact amount of the increase needed still has to be determined," Weibel said.

The superintendent declared the present facilities of the district are inadequate, and will become even worse as the enrollment increases.

"In 1950-51 the district spent $150.91 per pupil, as compared with $197.05 for a corresponding district."

Recommendations

Following are recommendations of the California Association of school administrations for an adequate district:

One district for 30 pupils...Jefferson has one teacher for 37.5 pupils.

One counsellor for 1200 pupils ...Jefferson has no counsellor.

One psychologist for 1200 pupils...Jefferson has no psychologist.

One doctor for 5,000 pupils... Jefferson has no doctor.

And where the administrators say the minimum cost per pupil of any district should be $200.00, Jefferson is spending but $150.91.

With a few green touches here and there, the Scott and Green street locale was, by our Mr. Kelly, changed from the enervating, lacklustre tiredness of winter to one of invigorating, pulsating lush verdure.

Indeed, what can be done with artificial props for Hollywood super-colossals was done by the Westlake florist.

Too bad the picture did not require similar animal props. They might have ben easily supplied by the not far distant Fleischacker Zoo. Then we wouldn't be deprived of the chance to speak of the unsurpassed plenitude of background materials of those well-known twins, the flora and fauna.

For, we are as certain that this northern part of California holds undisputed primacy in flora and fauna over Los Angeles and its hinterland as we are that this winter has, indeed, been "unusual" hereabouts.

The taking of "shots" at Green and Scott streets started last Monday and has continued every day since. It is planned to finish work there Thursday evening, January 31, Mr. Kelly supervising his handiwork.

noted there would be some protest, but at the end of 30 days, "resistence will give way to a feeling of joyousness."

Cribbins followed through with a colorful 10 minute sales talk. He asert the signs will be a beautiful addition to the local scene.

While this didn't hit a receptive cord, the councilmen straightened in their chairs when Cribbins observed this is a "painless method" of raising funds.

Wrong Step

Only faux pas in Cribbin's plea was made when he casually mentioned that "Daly City is a part of San Francisco." Some members of the audience visibly bristled.

Following an exchange of questions and answers, the councilmen decided to shelve the matter until the next meeting. Meanwhile, they authorized Cribbins to put up a sample plaque on the meters in front of city hall to "test public reaction."

A quick poll by THE RECORD after the meeting showed the council evenly split on the proposition.

Cab Hearing

Previous to the Park-Ad bid, Kirchhubel protested the issuance of another permit for a second cab company in Daly City. The permit has been requested by J. M. Wooten, a San Francisco veteran and former employee of Kirchhubel's Hilltop Cab company.

Wooten proposes to run a one man cab company from 3 p.m. to midnight six days a week from Bepler and Mission streets. He asserts such service is necesary as the Hilltop Cab company can not meet the needs of local residents during the rush hours.

On the other hand, Kirchhubel based his main argument against issuing the permit on the assertion no more cabs are necessary for this area.

Good Service

"We supply adequate service," Kirchhubel said. "And as it is there is hardly enough business for the number of cabs we employ."

The Daly City man pointed out that two years ago a competitor of Hilltop Cab company was not "able to make a go of it," and Hilltop bought them out.

Kirchhubel also noted the profit margin in his business was no more than 25 per cent, and he could not see where another cab could succeed here.

"I'm sorry Hilltop Cab is losing money," Wooten replied. "But that isn't the issue. We really need more than four cabs here during the rush hours."

Rate War

Councilman Ed Mooney summed up the feelings of the council: "We don't want a rate war, but on the other hand we believe in fair competition. It boils down to whether or not another cab is really needed."

The council agreed to go over the Hilltop Cab company's books . . . freely offered by Kirchhubel . . . to determine whether necessity warrants a second company.

Mayor Green said a decision would be announced at the next regular meeting, February 11.

While on the subject of cabs, the council also passed a resolution upping the minimum fare for the first one-quarter mile from 35 cents to 50 cents. This is in keeping with the current trend throughout the Bay Area, Councilman Fred Bertetta said.

More Business

Other business before the council included:

1. Raising the salary of the city gardener from $230 to $265 a month; firemen from $290 to $318; chief water clerk from $275 to $300; city-clerk tax collector from $375 to $425.

2. Appointing Dan Andersen, city administrator, to attend all regular meetings of the joint city-council civilian defense board.

"As our bid was in many months ago, I am certain we will have no trouble in getting materials needed," Weibel stated.

The addition to the Colma school will bring the total number of rooms to 21, and will provide facilities for 735 upper grade students.

Weibel noted, also, a part of the heavy school load will be absorbed by the new Holy Angels parochial school slated to be completed this year.

Westlake Group Opposes Zoning

Way (including Section H) we were informed that this area was to be a Park or Club House area and as Mr. Doelger was to live in that area we could be assured that this would never be used as commercial.

(2) The area shown on the map to be zoned commercial is approximately 175 feet by 450 feet whereas the area in the posting is approximately 350 feet by 575 feet. This is explained as being a mistake in description yet we feel that this is a sign of bad faith and sufficient ground to deny "C-1" classification to any and all of parcel "H."

Sufficient Area

(3) We feel that there is sufficient C-1 area in the Westlake district without setting up one isolated small section in a strictly residential area. This area, because of its small size, would only be suitable for such commercial enterprise as night club, motel or drive-in restaurant, all of which would greatly depreciate the value of the present home owners.

(4) We would like to point out that to this date all of the C-1 property in Daly City has been very wisely limited to the following: Mission street, San Jose avenue, Junipero Serra blvd., San Pedro ave., property adjacent to S.P. right of way, and our own Alemany extension. We feel that your body and its predecessors have done a good job in this respect and we sincerely hope that you shall follow this pattern by keeping all of the C-1 property in Westlake in areas that are on Alemany blvd. or adjacent areas such as the excellent shopping and commercial center which Doelger has projected in the area between the apartment house areas, Alemany blvd. and Broadmoor.

Same Pattern

(5) We feel that the pattern as set forth by our sister city of San Francisco should be given some consideration. We are given to understand that San Francisco has attempted to keep all of the natural beauty possible in and around Lake Merced. In this respect the only business of any nature allowed in any area adjoining Lake Merced is such as was necessary to obtain a concessionaire for the boat concession on Lake Merced. Section H in subject petition comes within a few feet of Lake Merced Boulevard. To allow this property to be C-1 would, we feel, be a sharp rebuff to our sister city to whom we of Westlake are anxiously looking for aid in our transportation problems.

(6) We feel that the building of any commercial enterprise in this area would be detrimental to all of the property owners in the northwest section of Westlake as it would unquestionably reduce the value of their property as well as take business away from the now established businesses in Westlake. In this respect we want to call a specific example to your attention: Prior to the time that Kings Market Shopping Center was constructed on that narrow strip of Daly City at Junipero Serra and 87th street, the adjacent homes in Garden Village were considered a most desirable community and homes were readily saleable at top prices for the area, whereas as now many residents of Garden Village do justly feel that the value of their homes has been depreciated because of this C-1 property.

Doelger Praised

In closing this protest, we would like to state that we feel that Doelger has done an excellent job in planning of Westlake. In the present commercial or shopping center all persons who bought in this area knew where the shopping center was going and they separated the commercial from residential by rows of lovely apartments so that at no place did residential property adjoin commercial and we feel that in light of the past performance of Doelger he can surely see that to insist on making parcel "H" C-1 will do more damage to his beautiful child, "Westlake," than he can ever hope to gain by any commercial enterprise. There is only one Lake Merced and we all enjoy its natural beauty; to us it would be sacrilegious to allow anything but residences to line its shores in one of the very few places where the existing pattern is one of parks and parkways.

We do sincerely request that the city council take action in refusing to allow Parcel "H" of Subject Petition to be zoned C-1 and we do hereby petition your City Council to classify Parcel "H" of Subject Petition as first class residential.

Respectfully submitted,
Albert H. Altman

The Flood

River Of Water And Mud Pours Out Of Crocker Hills Into Frankfort

A steady stream of water today is the constant reminder to residents in one section of Daly City that the floods are not over.

The muddy water is pouring off the Crocker hills from a hole behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morrow, 190 Edgemar st.

Although now under control, Friday the water came close to undermining several homes on Frankfort street. Heavy, oozing mud came in the wake of the stream daming up sewers and spreading over basements. Several residents were virtual prisoners in their homes until mud-smeared firemen and street workers managed to clear the drains.

Neat Hole

No one is quite certain what happened. At 10 a. m. Friday the hillside behind the Morrow home "just gave way," Mrs. Morrow said. But it was a neat cut, resembling a section where a tractor might have gone in to clear for a home. It is a hole about 40x 50 feet and water gushes from its sides like a sieve held under running water.

Several of the residents in the area attended the Daly City council meeting Monday night to determine what the city plans to do with the constant flow of water.

Mayor Green said City Engineer Ed Smith has worked out a plan where a pipe will be sunk into the hill to carry the water off to Whittier street.

Not Liable

Bernard Kushman, a resident of Frankfort street, asked whether or not the city plans to pay for the damage done.

"I do not believe the city is liable," Mayor Green said. "Furthermore, we can not pay for any damage which is clearly an act of God."

R. E. Tabor, 184 Frankfort, was hardest hit by the flood. Firemen had to run a drain through his garage to carry off the water, and as a result he claims most of his back yard has been carried away.

While admitting no fault of the city for this action, Mayor Green said some attempt would be made to restore the lost dirt to Tabor's yard.

Council Questioned

Residents of the area told THE RECORD that water has always flowed down the hills during the winter, but never in such force. They also assert they have asked for some protection from the city council in the past, but none has been given.

"I have told the councilmen about this condition several times," Morrow said. "But I have always been ignored."

An attorney informed THE RECORD that were this the case, had the city been given fair warning, the residents may be able to recover money from the city for damages done.

O.L.P.H. WHIST PARTY TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Next Tuesday afternoon, February 5, the Mother's Club of OLPH will hold its regular monthly whist party in the school auditorium, 80 Wellington avenue.

Mrs. John Vinal, whist party chairman, will be assisted by the fourth grade mothers, who will act as hostesses for the occasion.

Sixth Graders Win Crocker PTA Membership Drive

Class To Be Feted At Founders Day Party

The Pupils of the Sixth Grade, guided by their teacher, Mrs. Margaret Clark, won the Crocker PTA membership drive, conducted between January 15 and 25.

Mrs. James Keith assisted the pupils in the art work attendant on the drawing of houses displaying blank bricks. As a pupil obtained a new member for the school's PTA he or she was privileged to color one brick. The Crocker winners not only colored all the bricks in the building's drawing, but also the flagstones depicting the sidewalk leading to the structure.

At the time the membership drive was originally planned, last fall, Mrs. Martin Berlin was president of the Crocker PTA. However, due to the change of principals, the drive was postponed. Mrs. Elsa Berg is the current president of the school's Association.

The children of the winning class will be given a party in their room. This will take place on Founder's Day, February 5, when a meeting of the Crocker PTA will also be held. The latter is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gene Schmaley will be in charge of the pupil's party. She is the sixth grade room mother.

Garden Club Will Hold Valentine Meeting Feb. 5

The annual Valentine meeting of the Daly City Garden Club will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hunter, 438 Crocker avenue, at 8 p.m., Tuesday, February 5.

The program speaker, Mrs. C. M. Yohnson, will deliver a talk on "Complimentary Colors" for decorative effects. The flower arrangement will be demonstrated by Mrs. H. de Leon. Containers and holders will be arranged by Mrs. R. Garay.

Since this is a Valentine meeting members are asked to bring a valentine made of material from their own garden, such as a corsage, plant or bouquet.

Mrs. Dick Hunter will be in charge of refreshments.

1952 Girl Scout Officers Take Over

The officers for the year 1952, recently elected, will officiate at the first regular meeting of the new year of Troop 2, Girl Scouts of America, at the home of Mrs. Lyle R. Vessey, 41 Muirwood drive, next Monday evening.

THIS IS NO PLACE FOR METER ADS

First it was the singing commercials, now it is parking meter advertising.

A plan for "decorating" our meters with triangular advertising plaques is under consideation by the city council. THE RECORD recommends they junk this idea, or approve it and make the business district look like a junk yard.

The Park-Ad corporation, an eastern organization, is naturally anxious to put the idea over here. They flopped in Burlingame, but perhaps they figure a smaller town is not above making a few dollars, regardless of the means.

And for the mess it would make the monetary returns are low, indeed. The city would receive 20 per cent of the gross receipts, which at the most would mean $4,000 a year. This is based on anvertisements on every meter, even in the semi-residential districts. Actual returns might not be more than $3,000 a year.

The company's representative was quite candid. He noted his organization was anxious to sell Daly City so as to put over the idea in other Peninsula towns. In other words, we are to be the guinea pigs; and principal selling point for the Park-Ad corporation in San Mateo county.

Why, if this is the case, the company should be willing to up the anti to at least 21 per cent of the receipts!

THE RECORD is treating this plan with the humor it deserves. It is amusing to think the city council, or any other citizens interested in civic beauty, could endorse such a wild scheme. Next they will be calling for business men to lease the sidewalks in front of their stores for advertising messages; or for the children to wear sweaters with a sales message.

A sample of the meter advertising is slated to go up in front of city hall this week. We urge everyone to take a good, long look at the plaque. Imagine what 400 of them will look like.

Careful now, the company claims you can't dent those plaques with a baseball bat. Besides, according to this same company, after 30 days of those plaques, you will look on the whole thing with "joyfullness."

We may be sour, but we pray the city council forgets the plan before the town is overrun with advertising and thousands of "joyful" citizens.

RESIDENTS REALIZE WE HAVE A CITY COUNCIL

Old timers were shaking their heads. It couldn't happen here, but it did. Last Monday night, for the second consecutive meeting of the city council, more than six people appeared. As a matter of fact, the count was over 40.

This, after countless editorials in THE RECORD, is encouraging. During the past two years we have continually urged residents to show interest in their government. It looks like they are beginning to awaken.

We hope this public interest will continue. A Westlake resident reports he expects a "full house" at the next council meeting, February 11.

This trend refutes the time honored excuse for not living up to covic responsibilities. That goes something like: "The council won't listen to you. The councilmen have their minds already made up before they enter the council chambers."

The past two metings have proven the council is willing to listen to anyone, regardless of the gripe. It may be true it has been so long since anyone has attended that the councilmen are out of practice in answering; but they are learning fast.

As for the council making up their minds before the meeting, there is some truth in this. They make no bones about holding a closed meeting every other week, and at that time they no doubt set the policy. This flagrant type of conclave may go by the way, however, if enough people appear at the regular meetings.

Another thing, no councilman is going to welcome a decision which means having 50 or more residents on his neck during a meeting. He may think twice about automatically saying "yes" to a motion when faced with an audience of more than empty seats. This has been evident at the last two meetings when material obviously prepared for a rejection or approval, was shelved for "further consideration" due to questions fired at the council from the audience.

We believe Daly City is no longer a whistle stop, but a metropolitan city in which the people are aroused to the fact that lack of public interest spells poor government, higher taxes, and nothing but trouble, and more trouble.

SCHOOLS NEED MORE MONEY, BUT...

It is simply a case of not enough money for the number of children in our elementary schools.

This necessitates an election within the next few months to raise the tax rate for support of these same schools.

These are two, hard facts. Taxpayers must add to their burden, or cut down on their children's education.

The question now is "how much?" The elementary school board has to arrive at a figure. However, conservative estimates are at least 40 cents more per every $100 assessed valuation. The present tax rate for operating the schools is 90 cents per $100.

We are aware there is opposition to raising taxes. No one is anxious to cut his already depleted income.

While we are certain conditions do warrant a definite increase, we do question the purpose to which this money is to be put to use.

Specifically, we wonder whether the time has not come to cry "halt," or at least "slow down" on upping the salaries of teachers. Frankly, we do not know the answer. We realize, too, this is treading on ground which has become sacred over the past decade.

THE RECORD, as any progressive paper, has constantly upheld the demands of teachers for additional pay. We shall continue to do so, but only when warranted.

Perhaps there is some room for increases, but before giving our whole hearted endorsement to any tax raise we want to know how much those increases will be, and who will be affected.

We are sure the Jefferson elementary school district will present those facts when the time comes. Once convinced teachers' pay should be increased, we will support the issue, as will every civic minded citizen.

DON'T MISS THE BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING

One of those meetings which should be a "must" on every business man's calendar is slated for the city hall at 8 p. m., Monday.

At that time the Daly City Business Men's association gathers to view several important questions. Leading the agenda will be a discussion of the city council's action in dropping out of the Mission Trails association, a semi-official chamber of commerce for this area.

THE RECORD doesn't know whether city officials are planning to attend, but they will be within calling distance. That evening the council meets on the same floor, but in another room behind closed doors. It is interesting to speculate on what may happen if both meetings converge.

It is unfortunate, but the business mens conclave probably will evolve into a fight between one political element and the present 'powers-that-be." However, we urge the merchants to rise above the issue and get something done of a constructive nature.

THE RECORD is opposed to the city dropping out of the Mission Trails Association. We would take this stand regardless of who, or what party, was for or against the association.

We believe the Mission Trails Association can help Daly City, and for $250 a year the city can not go far wrong in belonging to this organization.

THE RECORD urges business men to view this one question, not the personalities involved. Too many former meetings have broken up because politics entered where good sense should have ruled.

We say the business men should look at the facts, weigh them impartially, and then decide on the wisdom of the city's move.

Once more, if the majority of the merchants are in favor of reinstating the city in the trails associaion, the council should follow through.

This may be wishful thinking, but one thing is certain...the Monday night meeting promises to be one of the hottest debates held here in the past two years. Along with Frank Lombardi, president of the merchants' association, we invite the public to attend. It may be a real eye opener.

CALIFORNIA TAXES CAN BE CUT

Shortly after announcing that State income tax return blanks were in the mail—and due back with the proper remittance by April 15—State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel predicted that California's State Treasury will sport a tax surplus for the year of at least 128 million dollars.

A surplus of that huge amount obviously is an open invitation for every pressure group with a pet project to dip in the till. To the credit of four Assemblymen—Republicans Levering, Hollibaugh and Chapel and Democratic floor leader Beck—recommendations already have been made to cut State taxes at the March Budget Session of the Legislature. The State Chamber of Commerce, too, is advocating a return to a lower tax base.

LEAP YEAR

Cost Of Living Continues To Rise, Bureau Of Labor Statistics Reports

If Mr. Current American can find any comfort in the knowledge, he may regard himself the undisputed champion payer of the highest prices for living commodities—the all-time champion.

That is the conclusion arrived at following the release of the cost of living price index issued by the government. And, just to make things just a little more cheerful for Bay Area residents, they are informed that here their living costs are four one-hundreths per cent higher than the national index.

Nationally, living costs as of December 15, 1951, stood at 89.1 per cent above the level of 1935-39. The Bay Area's increase bettered that to the tune of 93.1 per cent.

The twelve-months period ending on December 15, last, showed a rise of 6½ per cent over the previous year and a rampaging 12 per cent over June-July, 1950.

Just about anything you need to live in ordinary comfort has recently taken a jump in prices. You now pay 12½ per cent more for gas and electricity; food and rents jumped 8½ per cent; clothing covered itself with a 4.8 per cent raise in prices. Such miscellany as cigarettes, haircuts, telephone rates and your family car kept apace with a 5 per cent increase.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics takes perhaps pardonable pride in announcing that household furnishings dropped .5 per cent in 1951 from their 1950 peak, BUT prices for furniture and the like are still 11 per cent higher than they were before the Korean conflict.

The BLS takes soundings on the cost of living each month. It then charts a consumer price index. These monthly indices irrefutably indicate that prices for everyday items have climbed steadily over the past two years.

Like the increase in cost of living before the latest index was issued, this last one will naturally be followed by wage increases for those workers covered by agreements that tie pay rates to the ups and downs of the cost of living. But, then, why even mention the latter—for the nonce.

Edgewood Terrace Civic Association Resuming Activity

The Edgewood Terrace Civic Association, more or less inactive during the past year, has resumed activities looking to the general improvement of the neighborhood it represents.

In an effort to rekindle the interest of residents of the neighborhood a meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of Del C. Wilson, 257 Hillside blvd., treasurer of the now almost defunct association. Joining Mr. Wilson in discussions for the revival of the civic group were James Baird and Kenneth Van Akan.

At present a canvass of the residents of Edgewood Terrace is being taken to sound out their sentiments anent civic improvements. When sufficient interest is shown and there is at least a tentative program projected an early general meeting will be called.

Price Stabilization Experiment Tried In Three Cities

The Office of Price Stabilization launched a test program in grocery stores in three American cities, among them Fresno, to decide whether or not prices may be stabilized sufficiently to allow "community pricing" throughout the United States.

Besides Fresno, grocery stores in Fargo, N. D., and Jacksonville, Fla., have been selected as the guinea pigs for the experiment.

Four hundred and fifty-one stores in the Fresno area alone are displaying posters listing the ceiling costs on about 400 dry grocery items. The grocers may sell the listed items under the prices indicated, but not over those prices.

It is hoped the experiment will work and that the information gained thereby can be put to use over the nation.

File Your Income Tax Report Early

Charles F. Masarik, Jr., acting collector of Internal Revenue, reports that income tax refund checks totaling $108,189.43 will be mailed to 2700 Northern California taxpayers by this District office within the next few days.

"This is but a small percentage of the overall total of income tax refunds based upon 1951 income which the taxpayers can expect," Masarik said.

He urges that taxpayers file their income tax returns early, and that they attach the IBM cards received with their blank forms. These cards will enable his staff to process taxpayers' returns more rapidly.

TAXES

Truman's Proposed Budget Will Cost Each Daly City Taxpayer About $630.

San Mateo county's share of the proposed $85.4 billion federal budget submitted to congress on January 21 will be more than $166,754,700 based on an average of about $630 for each of the 264,690 people in the county on January 1, California Taxpayers association said today. Estimate is based on an analysis of the President's budget recommendations.

The county's share of the proposed federal budget is about eight times the $20,159,148 property tax levy for all the local governments in the county, the association pointed out.

It is about two-thirds as much as the total value of taxable property in the county, for this year, which is $259,770,004.

Statewide, California's share of the proposed $85.4 bililon federal budget amounts to more than $7 billion.

Total Levy

This is well over eight times as much as the total property tax levy in the state for 1951-52—which is at an all-time peak of $853,592,808.

The state's share of the federal budget is almost seven times the size of the budget of the state of California for 1951-52—$1,047,183,000—to finance what it costs to run the state and state aid to local governments in California.

The proposed federal budget calls for total spending of $85.4 billion for 1952-53, but estimates revenues at $70.9 billion—with a budget deficit of almost $15 billion—if congress does not limit federal expenditures to expected revenues.

"Taxpayers want a balanced federal budget—balanced by economy, not more taxes," the Taxpayers' association declared, warning of the danger of further deficit spending by the federal government.

Korea Dead Laid To Rest In Golden Gate Cemetery

Twenty-two In Week; Six In One Day

The American public is rarely aware that our killed in Korea are being brought back to their native land in large numbers; brought back to find their final rest in the soil of their home towns or in national cemeteries.

The Rev. Anthony F. Morrissey, pastor of Holy Angels Church, 107 San Pedro road, Colma, and a Lt. Colonel, Res., in the Chaplains' Corps, U. S. Army, during the week officiated at the burial in Golden Gate National Cemetery of 22 casualties of the Korean war.

Father Morrissey, who served as a chaplain in the regular army for 11 years, many of them during World War II, may retire in another two years. He told a RECORD reporter that those whom he has buried in recent weeks were all casualties on and around October 5 and 6, 1951.

Of the 1,800 dead brought back from Korea to the Bay Area ports on a recent ship arrival the Colma priest said some of them are from Daly City and its surrounding communities.

JUDGE BOCCI EXPLAINS SMALL CLAIMS COURT

As a public service, Judge Thomas Bocci this week outlined the workings of the small claims court.

Bocci, judge of the justice court for the First Township, said the court provides many services for residents of this area.

Court sessions are held in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue, at 10 a.m., Friday. During the week claims may be filed at Judge Bocci's office, 6654 Mission street.

Small claims up to $100 may be handled by the court. The law does not permit attorneys to appear, and all who file must appear in their own behalf, Judge Bocci said.

The California Palace of the Legion of Honor at San Francisco is dedicated to the memory of California soldiers killed in World War I.

The California State Library has one of the only two complete files of "The Californian," first published at Monterey, August 15, 1846.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Politicians are a peculiar breed, much maligned, little understood by the American public. In this, an election year, they are hitching up their respective pants cuffs, prepared to enter the squared circle of campaigning, mud slinging and promises.

Once again a good portion of the American public will go forth to choose a champion. The majority will be convinced the knight in shining armor is little more than a rusty knave, albeit the fact they are voting for him. Most feel it is simply a matter of choosing the better of two to a dozen bad candidates.

It is an unspoken rule of the political game that none of the contestants is out to help anyone but himself. Equally, it is understood no one, except the opposition, should make this fact public. In plain terms, the gladiator polishes his own ego with rags handed him by admiring cohorts.

Second Law

Another law of the contest is that no politician shall enter the race unless pushed on by friends. Rare indeed is the poltico who seeks office simply because he wants the job. He's usually doing it at great personal sacrifice, and for no other reason than to make this a fine old world in which to live.

Then there are certain basic boards in every candidates platform. He naturally hates the communist, but loves the laboring man, except when he's addressing a group of bankers . . . then he hates everybody He is all out for education. He wants to keep taxes at a new low, but give the voters everything but the moon.

He hates crime, corruption, but isn't above taking a sizeable contribution. After all he needs the money to get elected to help the poor fools who can't help themselves.

Too Perfect

And, yet, the politician is as much a part of the American scene as night baseball. Like night baseball, he will never replace love, for he is such a grand guy to hate. Americans would be appalled if they actually believed every candidate meant just what he said. Things would be too perfect, all the fun divorced from the game. Such a condition would resemble a gym without punching bags.

What most fail to realize is American politicians are frail, because they come from the people. They are nothing more than the guy next door, or down the block. Few are educated for public office, fewer even have the qualifications outlined for the perfect public official.

Remedy

Some have noted this condition might be remedied by setting up a type of civil service government, where all the jobs are held down by trained, qualified men. Ideally perfect, such a system is, nevertheless, opposed to the basic principles of democracy.

Democracy is synonymous with everything in opposition to perfection. Still, there is the vital spark, missing in the most technically perfect governments, which pushes up to the top of the heap. One small part of that spark is the elected politician, who despite himself manages to blunder through. He is all he shouldn't be, but has enough of the right stuff to make us glad we are able to witness the three ring circus called an election every two years.

THE CURRENT SCENE

By Cas Glowacki

The surveyors and engineers who outline the geographical boundaries of a village, town or city do not create a community. A community is people.

In a suburb such as Daly City—in such unique proximity to a larger city—its residents sometimes forget they are part of a community which has its own specific entity; its own political, education, social, economic and religious life that sets it apart from any other community, no matter its size or nearness. And this individual entity imposes specific obligations on the people of such a separate community.

It, therefore, behooves residents of Daly City to take pride in their own city and all its institutions. If we find anything in our community which does not measure up to our expectations and, thus, does not warrant our pride, then it is up to us to work toward improving such condition.

The entirety of any community is only as good as the sum total of the integrity, honesty, industry and inteligence of its entire population.

BIGNESS NOT GREATNESS

We Americans have too long worshipped at the shrine of mere size. Even though we know bigness is not necessarily greatness.

We gape in awe at a large building. We stand in fear of a huge fortune. We take pride in our attendance at a prize fight which grosses a million dollar gate because two human behemoths—known as heavyweights—pummel each other with steam hammer-like punches. We pridefully point to our large schools—from grammar through college—and forget that the "little red schoolhouse" and "Old Siwash" have given us some of our greatest American leaders in all fields of human endeavor.

* * *

SMALL TOWN BOYS

Was the greatest leader of our Christian civilization born or raised in Jerusalem? Jerusalem had to kill Him to silence His advanced ideas. It was tiny Nazareth which nurtured Him and permitted Him to develop to unequalled stature as a man.

The best the people of the big city—Jerusalem—could do was to call Him names. When they called Him "The Nazarene" it was an epithet of derision. When the Roman soldiers carved the wood of the cross above Jesus' thorn-crowned head they could think of no greater insult to the man they crucified than to inscribe there the first letters of the Latin of "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews (INRI—Iesus Nazareni, Rex Iudeorum), which was as much as to say "What good could come from such an insignificant, obscure village?"

Was Shakespeare born and raised in London? Small, little-known Stratford-on-Avon had that honor. And yet in a very short time the small-town young man became the leader of the big city's leaders of the writing fraternity.

And so on—ad infinitum.

* * *

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

Nobody respects the person who is ashamed that his parents are not tycoons of commerce or industry; or of his cottage home, his small community, his less populated state, or his less than largest and most powerful country. Everybody, on the other hand, honors him whose evaluations discriminate between quality and quantity.

We of Daly City would do well to take part in every phase of our community's life.

If we WANT an all-round good community to live in, we'll WORK toward that end. It takes more than a wishbone to attain a desired goal. It takes an unyielding backbone to get what you want.

The quality of Daly City's civic, social, moral, economic, educational, and religious life reflects the kind of person I am—and you and you and you.

GATEWAY GANDER

A TRIFLE LATE—but many thanks to Mel Battye and his performance—day before Christmas, terribly ill from a severe bout with the 'flu—making like a happy and cheery Santa Claus at the Daly City Theater—the children none the wiser but his friend and partner, Arnold Panella, a bit on the worried side.

ANXIOUS TO SEE the Globe Trotters in action, one determined gentleman rushed to the Cow Palace. Missing the usual lights and traffic snarls, he hurried to Winterland, purchased a ticket and immediately found himself in the midst of a Wrestling Match. Much wiser and $5 poorer, he finally witnessed the fascinating spectacle from the gallery—at the Shrine Auditorium. Mr. Nenstiel, you should be that confused—and a hardware store proprietor even!

Mrs. Fay Risdon of 289 Hillcrest, now recovering from a broken arm—Grany Risdon tells of the efficient work of the Junipero Serra Hospital staff—received a very cold reception from the Alemany Emergency—where she was mistakenly taken.

HARRY REIDI—retired custodian of the General Pershing School — once featured prominently as a ballet and adagio dancer in the 1920s.

BENEFIT DANCE at Castle Hall Saturday evening, February 2nd—sponsored by the Daly City Folk Dancers. Mrs. Frank Prisco invites the public. Donations of $1 per couple will be happily accepted.

AND THEN there was the Police Officer (not one of OUR BOYS), daintily jaywalking across Mission street from the Bank corner to the Pet Shop—Working hours too long on the San Francisco force?

THE BURT McKENNAS are moving to Chicago—Loss of a nice family. Brownies and Girl Scouts will miss Bruna's fine guidance. Congrat's to Burt—wonderful engineer's position.

HAPPY TO welcome back Mrs. Muriel Pabst, instructor of the children's Folk Dancing classes at the Bellevue Fire House. A big hand to Mrs. Pearl Caine, officiating during the absence of Mrs. Pabst.

BAKERS closed on Monday—Cafes closed on Monday—Busy Tuesday—and are we hungry. It's been a long, long time.

THE GENSELS: Abe, Dolly and their own four children are returning to Daly City—took a few months off to live further down the Peninsula. Seems as if the climate had something to do with the approaching return. They will have three additions to the family—two boys and a girl, foster children.

BY GOLLY — when you get a traffic ticket around here you must concede it is authentic—just heard from a reliable source that the motorcycle cops of a very nearby city must issue so many tickets each month to retain their jobs—hmmm!

AAA Big Cars Go Into Action This Sunday

Oakland Scene Of Speedway

Returning after an absence of two years, the speedy AAA big cars roar into action at Oakland Speedway on Sunday, February 10, it was learned today.

Nearly 30 of the nation's finest drivers, including many Indianapolis favorites, will compete in a thrill-promising eight-event sprint racing meet. Time trials are billed for 1 p.m., with races at 2:15 p.m.

The 12 fastest qualifiers win a spot in the 14-car main event, the other two starters being the drivers placing one-two in the 10-lap semi-main which involves the day's slowest 14 qualifiers. Also on the program are the traditional 3-lap trophy dash and four 5-lap heats.

Battle

The triple-A pilots last battled over the ⅝-mile paved and high-banked track in January, 1950, when Trop Ruttman captured the feature. The 21-year-old "bobby-sox" idol returns in Majordomo J. C. Agajanian's hot No. 98 Jr., the auto in which he chalked up 18 wins out of 22 starts last year to bag the Midwest and Pacific Coast sprint car titles. This was the first time in hostory a driver captured two major circuit championships.

Slated to oppose the hard-driving Ruttman are such stellar pilots as Jack McGrath, 3rd last year at Indianapolis; Andy Linden, 4th in the "500;" Duane Carter, who held the '51 Midwest crown before Ruttman; Allen Heath, Billy Vukovich, Bob Sweikert of Hayward, Bob Gregg, Cal Niday, Gordy Reid, Billy Ryan of San Francisco, Dempsey Wilson, Bill Taylor, Bayless Levrett and many others.

Tagged Catfish Are A Coming

Game Dept. Starts Three Year Program

The tagging of some 3,000 catfish with red plastic discs is the initial goal of a three-year Statewide program begun this month by the California Department of Fish and Game.

Return of the tags by cooperating anglers will help find answers to the fishery's present trouble—declining sport and commercial catches. It will be conducted by Junior Aquatic Biologist David E. Pelgen, under the direction of District Biologist Alex J. Calhourn. A portion of the money will be provided under terms of the new Dingell-Johnson Act, which returns Federal angling gear tax proceeds to the States.

Catfish were introduced into California waters in the 1880's. The small white cats now found in the Delta region were imported from the Potomac river.

"The channel cat, biggest and gamest of the catfish family, now has only a toehold in state waters," Pelgen said.

"This project should supply basic information by which we may build up the catfish population through wise regulations."

Governor Earl Warren tells us: "Civil Defense, the difference between victory or defeat if we are attacked, can be just as strong or as weak as we want it to be."

Civil Defense is simply National Life Insurance.

No one is too young or too old, too weak or too strong—or too busy—to do his or her part for Civil Defense.

RECREATION

Yo-Yo Contest Draws Large Field Of Boys, But Girls Shy Away From Game

The first Yo-Yo contest held at Marchbanks Playground on Saturday, January 26, found only a handful of contestants competing for top honors.

Those fortunate to win the weekly awards were: boys division—first place, Robert Nunes; second place, Henry Oliver; and third place, Ronald Bloom.

The only girl to compete in her division was Cathy Rasmussen who was awarded the first place shield.

A new contest will take place this Saturday, February 2, at 11 a.m. on the upper level of the playground. In case of rain the contest will be held at Castle Hall on Mission street. Boys and girls who win awards are not eligible to win additional prizes, but are eligible to compete in their playground championships. The playground champion in the boys division will receive a sweater and the girl champion wins a gold miniature Yo-Yo.

No Girls

The contest held at Lincoln Playground attracted ten contestants in the Boys division, but failed to lure any girls. The boys competing were Ron Rivers, Bill Khinoo, Don Sharp, Bob Rich, Ray Bermudez, Philip Liberti, Ray Marchi, Phil De Lucchi, Wesley Yates and Tom Costello.

First place went to Tom Costello with a perfect score of 80 points; second place was won by Wesley Yates with 70 points, and third place was awarded to Phil DeLucchi with 55 points.

The points are awarded in the following maner: each contestant much perform eight compulsory tricks with each trick worth 10 points for a perfect completion, 5 points if the trick is performed on a second try, and zero if the trick is not completed properly after the alloted two tries.

In the event of rain next Saturday, the Lincoln Playground contest will be held at Bellevue Hall.

Don't forget, new winners each week, start practicing for next weeks contest and win an award.

State Recreation Commission Issues Sports Directive

Warns Against Child Exploitation, Pressure

Sports competition for children under 13 years of age, within their own neighborhoods and under certain controls, is recommended in a policy on competitive sports, released Thursday, January 31, at Sacramento to local recreation agencies by Mrs. Rollin Brown (Los Angeles), Chairman, State of California Recreation Commission. Local agencies requested a policy from the Commission because of the pressure from some sports promoters to run leagues for children leading to national championships in "little league baseball," "iddy-biddy basketball," "Pop Warner little league tackle football." Competition is a normal element of a sports program for all children, stated Mrs. Brown; however, sports leagues for children should be conducted in accordance with the interests, physical and emotional needs of youngsters. Every youngster playing on a team of some kind under trained supervision and having a chance to learn the skills without high pressure championships is a sound program for any community.

Sports Year-Round

A year-round program of activities in team, dual and individual sports is recommended in the policy statement as a basic part of the community recreation program. For children, emphasis should be placed on achievement of skills and enjoyment of the contest. The inadequate number and variety of existing local areas and facilities indicates that those to be constructed should be used for more than one activity and by many groups. Civic and service organizations and business firms sponsoring sports leagues are urged to do so as a part of the total community program, rather than to finance a single team or individual.

Exploitation of children as an advertising medium, survival tournaments, expensive personal equipment, awards of intrinsic value and inter-city competition are rated as harmful practices, in accordance with this policy, stated Sterling S. Winans, State Director of Recreation. Tackle football and boxing are examples of sports not recommended for children.

Daly City Program

Elman J. Rose, Director of Recreation, Daly City, stated that the Daly City sports program for children under 13 years of age is in accordance with the policy on competitive sports leagues, as released January 31 by the State of California Recreation Commission. Six organized teams, involving 63 children in basketball, are in competition at present playing in the elementary league. Personnel of the recreation department are supervising the games. During the year, children will participate in volley ball, softball, track, touch football and swimming. Expensive personal equipment, awards of intrinsic value and inter-city competition are not necessary to get children to compete.

Indians Scalp San Mateo Bearcats; But Take Count Before Menlo-Atherton

By RAY SCHMITKE

It was all in a days work when the Jefferson Indians took their fourth league game in stride by whipping the San Mateo Bearcats 61-41 in a rampaging four quarter tilt at Jeff last Friday.

It was strictly a Don Delbon performance as the Brisbane lad tallied twenty-one points against the opposition. Don, who is also quite a threat in baseball and football, was at his best as he lashed out with the patented Delbon jumb shot and lay in.

Don Wilson was second highest score on the team by tanking 6 field goals and 2 free throws.

Jefferson was in complete control of the game at all times. In the first quarter it was Don Wilson making 6 points that helped to put the score in a 16 to 6 position. The entire first string piled it on in the second frame and Jeff now led 37-18 and as the second quarter took its place it turned into a Delbon rally that found the Indians winding up with a 64 to 41 victory.

Jeff Drops Thriller

One of the most exciting cage games played in sometime was witnessed last Tuesday, when Jefferson bowed to the Menlo-Atherton ball club 38 to 42.

The first frame was held down by Menlo-A with a shadding 11-13 lead. In the second quarter Dick Farman, Bear forward, and teammate Tom Crane exploded with a series of lay-ins that sent the Indians back on their heels 19 to 31 at half time. The third frame was the evenly matched portion of the game. Bucket for bucket was matched as the Jefferson five played a tight man to man affair.

As the fourth and final quarter of play resumed an entirely new tilt started from the 23 to 34 lead the Bears had built up in the third frame. Larry Blanchard, forward, and Don Wilson, guard, both Indian men, score on set shots, together with Angelo Calorio's two free throws the score tallied to 34 to the foes 38.

After exchanging blows in the frame once more Jefferson found themselves with forty-five seconds left to play, trailing by two marks.

The score was 38 to 40 when Tom Crane stepped to the foul line. With seconds left to play he made his shot and now the Bears led by 3. A moment latter Elizondo followed suit.

The rest of the game was stalled out and the Menlo club took home a 42-38 victory.

Center Trouble

The main trouble that has the varsity worried these days is the fact that the center post is the weak spring in the tribe attack. Repeatedly, points were lost under the net which would have put Jefferson ahead in the final quarter. Richard Bergstresser, Dick Moquin and Stanley Davis all tried their hand at the post. Bergies' slowness, Dick's lack of height, and Davis' inexperience still have Coach Mike Orlich stymied on that number one position.

Thirties Lose Pair

The thirties basketball team continued their losing streak by droping a 28-52 tilt to San Mateo last Friday, and done over last Tuesday by Menlo-Atherton in a 25 to 38 struggle.

The big gun in the San Mateo Bearcat game was Kahler with a rifling 15 points that gave the younger set something to think about. In the Menlo meeting forward Nashnish tallied seven for seven on the free throw line to sparkle the Menlo attack.

Jefferson Varsity Plays Alumni

For the first time in our record books the Jefferson Varsity will play a public game against the one-time Indian cagers.

The contest will take place next Wednesday, February 6, in the Jeff gym. The starting time is 7:30.

The meeting between the Varsity teams will take place immediately following the 30's clash.

Some of the alumni which will be seen on the hardwood will be Fred Thompson, Benny Greenough, John Matzek, Bob Varni, Frank Hartji, Jack Dederman, Harry Dederman, Lefty Goodnol, Tom Palmer, and Les Nicolini.

Vince And Fred Liquors Nine To Play S. F. Team For Championship

Playing strictly top-grade baseball throughout the first half of the winter season, the Vince and Fred Liquors nine of Daly City have earned the right to meet the Don Gilmore aggregation at San Francisco's Funston field in the Marina district in the mid-season playoffs of the "AA" American League next Sunday, February 3. The game will get underway at noon.

The teams will play a double header and the issue between them may very well be decided on the first day of the playoffs.

Colma "B" Jets Ring The Baskets In Lopsided Win

Long High Scorer As Perpetual Help Loses

The Colma Jets "B" team won their second game of the season by trouncing the Perpetual Help "Bees" 31 to 10 Friday night, January 25, at the Jefferson Union high school gym.

Once again center Long led the scoring parade by dropping in 13 points. Danny Rasmussen hit for 8, Hendon 6, and Hawthorne 4 to complete the scoring for the Colma team. Center Swickard was high point maker for the Perpetual Help team with 8 and forward Tom Weckerle made a bucket for two points.

The score at the first quarter read Colma 7, PT 4. At the half it was 17 to 6, Colma's favor. The third quarter score, Colma 23, PH 6.

The other team members participating for the Colma squad included, Clark, Fairchild, Supanich, Jones, Geiseker, and Atteberry. For Perpetual Help the non-scorers were Curtin, Fenn, Garibaldi, Bautista, Oliver, Murphy, and Sutter. Though these boys didn't make the scoring column, they were giving their best to help their team.

The Colma Jets "A" team won their game on a forfeit when the Perpetual Help "A" team failed to produce five men which is the rule for starting a game. Only three members were present and as a result the game had to be forfeited.

Starting Friday, February 1, the "B" games will begin at 7 p.m. with the "A" game taking the floor at 7:45 p.m. The games scheduled for this night will be between the Colma Rockets and Perpetual Help.

The Vince and Fred Liquors pitching staff is in tip-top condition and followers of the local team expect Pitchers Voto, Donley and Delalibba to do a workmanlike job of mystifying the sluggers undoubtedly found in the Don Gilmore lineup.

In a recent game against another league nine, the Leslie Salts, Voto pitched six innings and was relieved by Donley in the last three and between them they allowed a mere six hits and only one run, while their teammates were finding the offerings of Rosenberg and Kenna of the Leslie's for a total of seven hits and an easy five runs.

Clayton, rightfielder, and his garden mate in center, Pomecus, are expected to carry much of the slugging load in the forthcoming playoffs. Halman, first baseman and cleanup batter, should come through with his share of safe blows, too.

Arata, in left field, can be depended on for a fast fielding job as well as a worthy contribution with the stick. Decker, at short, has been playing a whale of a game during the first half of the winter league season and the playoffs should find him in good shape to continue sparkling both afield and at the plate.

Makrus, at third, didn't get a safe hit in the Leslie Salt game, but he merely had one of those off days which happen even to the likes of the Dimaggios, Kiners or Musials.

Greys can be trusted to perform errorlessly in the backstop slot and lend the potency of his bludgeon on occasion, too.

One entire hall in the show will be made into a children's sports show with a free trout fishing pond as the room's centerpiece.

The show doors will be open from 1 p.m. until midnight, February 29 thru March 9.

Middle-Aged Packard Stolen; Two San Francisco Men Held

Stanley Portney, 171 Twenty-second avenue, and Ralph C. Friend, 441 Ellis street, both of San Francisco, were arrested and lodged in the Redwood City county jail Monday on charges that they stole the 1937 Packard from in front of the owner's home, A. Franklin, 771 Hanover street.

The arrest was made by sheriff's deputies in Brisbane shortly after Mr. Franklin reported the theft of his car to local police at 8:45 a.m. Monday.

The suspects are awaiting arraignment.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Dishwater Ache

"I'M A VICTIM of what I call dishwater ache," writes Penny Vickars, from Uniontown, Pa. "I think lots of American housewives have it, and I want to know if there's a cure. Let me tell you of myself, because I've an idea I'm typical.

"I worked in a nursery apron factory before I was married, 12 years ago. Johnny wanted a family, and a family we have, three lovely girls, whose ages now are 10, 9, and 5. We wanted Pamela, the youngest girl, to be a boy before we saw her, and then we wanted Pam. Pam is now in school, and the other girls are helpful and normal and a great delight.

Every Day Tasks

"You know what I do every day. I make beds for people to muss up in a few hours, I clean bathrooms so that they can be strewn with soapsuds and wet towels again, I sweep floors to make room for more dust and scraps, I go to market to buy supplies that only last a few days, and I wash dishes that aren't cold before I have to lift them off the shelves for the next meal. I have a group of Scouts, we belong to a country club, and in our eight-room house, which we own, is every convenience and luxury that we Americans take for granted.

"My dishwater ache is because I know I can do better than this. My apron designs are still on the market; my color patterns are still framed in one of the offices. They want me back, at a good weekly salary, but truly it isn't the money. It's the chance for self-expression, even if only through nursery aprons! I don't want to go to Hollywood, or into the legislature, I'm not television material. But I want to hold my own in the business world, and while cotton clothes for children may not sound thrilling, my working at it may free some other women for the nursing or teaching they say we need so much.

". . . I can do better . . ."

"Johnny won't hear of it. To employ my loved old Mandy regularly, instead of one day a week, would mean a well-managed home. The older girls would take on Pam until I got home at half-past four. And I would have all the thrill of really working again. But my dear kind Johnny disapproves.

"What is your solution? You must have had this problem presented to you before."

Indeed I have, Penny. You are quite right in thinking that dishwater ache is a common disease. But there are two ways of putting this question, and yours is the rational, reasonable, and even highly desirable way. Many a Johnny would be relieved of his most pressing anxiety, many a Johnny's life would actually be prolonged, if he could feel that the woman at home could take care of herself and the children should he die or be incapacitated. Johnny doesn't know how lucky he is!

Failures

The women I advise to stay at home are the failures. They are the women who can't run the affairs of five rooms and one child and one man with any success, and yet who feel that they are quite capable of sensational exploits in the field of movies, art, letters—anything that gets their names and pictures into the magazines and papers.

Not long ago a pretty, restless, discontented woman did get her name into the papers. She won a dance contest in a rather low type of roadhouse and afterward went home with the man—up to that evening a stranger to her—with whom she had danced.

The police and the man's wife brought charges against the pair the next day, charges that included drug taking, drug peddling, reckless driving, car stealing, drunken driving, infidelity, and, in her case, criminal neglect of children and manslaughter. She had her moment of fame—of a sort. Her three small girls, aged 6, 4 and a few months, were in a damp basement room; she said the only place for which she had a key. The older child was feeding raw vegetables to the younger; the baby had found eternal peace.

Once a pretty, lively woman, with a hard-working engineer husband now in Japan, she explained that she wanted a movie contract as a dancer, and had always hated housework and children. She also pleaded poverty, but it was proved that her husband's pay ran well over $400 a month and she got most of it, and got affectionate letters from him too—and perhaps the saddest note of the whole sordid story was the four-year-old's tearful cry of "Mother!" when the sodden parent went with the officers to the cold bleak home.

HOLLYWOOD DIARY
by Ridgely Cummings

High Brow Adventures Of A Low Brow

MONDAY: Jack Mulhall, old time screen star, lives across the street from me. We've been nodding acquaintances for six months but I didn't get officially introduced to him until lately. Jack has been in the movies for 39 years so he can't be any spring chicken but he has a trim figure and an alert, vigorous expression. He's just signed for a role in a Columbia serial titled "Blackhawk," Sam Katzman producing.

I don't know why I add Sam Katzman producing, for I don't know the man, but that's the way people talk here in Hollywood.

Anyway I was telling Mulhall of some of the oldies in which I remembered seeing him. (In my interviews it seems as if I always do most of the talking, a technique which puts the interviewee at ease but sometimes results in a dearth of material.) Jack said he began his screen career in the Edison Studios in the Bronx back in 1913 with a film called "House of Discord." That one I never saw, nor did I see "The Spy," in which he set some kind of first by playing a dual role.

Many Roles

But I mentioned others and Jack started listing some of the beauties opposite whom he had played. His leading ladies read like a history of motion pictures. They include Marguerite Clark, the Talmadge sisters, Connie and Norma, Corrine Griffith, the tragic Nable Normand and the eqaully ill-starred Mary Miles Minter.

When I heard these names I got an idea. Give me some more beautiful babes, I urged. So he said in the talkies he played opposite Loretta Young, Dorothy Mackail, Jean Arthur and many others right down to Marie Wilson, with whom he shared top billing in Ken Murray's "Blackouts," a stage show that ran for seven years here in Los Angeles.

Jack Mulhall and I are now fellow entrepreneurs. We are mulling over a picture story of his life, featuring these lovelies. I've already queried Look Magazine and if I blossom out soon in a new suit you'll know we got an advance.

TUESDAY: Assigned to review a little theatre production of "Cricket on the Hearth," a sort of old fashioned morality play based on the Charles Dickens novel of the same name. The adaptation was by Iris Tree. Miss Marjorie Eaton, an actress member of the production group, told me that Miss Tree lives in Ojai and comes from the famous English family of which Sir Henry Beerbohm Tree is or was a member. I don't know anything specific about Beerbohm Tree but his name reminds me of side whiskers and Trilby and Du Maurier and the Mauve Decade. I must have once read a book about the period.

Good Show

Anyway the play was rather naive but was given a good production, with surrealistic sets and some modern background music composed by Michael Ehrhardt. I said as much in some three hundred words, all I'm allowed to use in a review.

I went on passes, of course, and was accompanied by a lady who used to write for the New York Herald Tribune. After the performance we were supposed to meet some friends at a rendezvous on Sunset Strip called Hamburger Hamlet. I wanted to get the review written first so I would have a free mind and wouldn't be thinking of brilliant adjectives to use all evening. So I wrote it with the Herald Trib girl looking over my shoulder. In it I chanced to say that Charles Dickens was always sentimental. She urged me to strike the phrase, arguing it would antagonize Dickens fans. Can't help that, I replied; a critic must say exactly what he thinks or he's no good.

But when the review came out next day the drama editor had cut my "always sentimental" completely out of the article. Don't know what it proves. It still think Dickens was a sentimentalist and although I enjoyed reading him as a teen-ager I can't imagine sitting down now for an evening with "Martin Chuzzlewit" or "Oliver Twist."

WEDNESDAY: Sitting calmly in Wil Wrights on Vine Street, having afternoon coffee with an actor named Oscar Kayle, when a song writer named Highe Lewman rushed in and shook my hand warmly, thanked me for calling him an ex-pugilist who carried the heart of a poet within his burly chest. Thus I learned that an article I had written titled "Hollywood Unvarnished" was now on the newsstands. It appeared in a magazine unfortunately named Frauds. If it had been Atlantic Monthly or Saturday Review I'd have been prouder, but it is a courageous little publication. It has to be to publish me. Promptly Oscar and I went out, scoured newsstands, bought copies. I have now read it admiringly two or three times, am still waiting to be paid. The rich life of a writer?

THURSDAY: Working all day and to Inglewood in the evening to sit in on a rehearsal of the Inglewood Symphony, Ernest Gebart conducting. They were preparing an all Gershwin concert, working up Rhapsody in Blue, American in Paris, Concerto in F. I especially enjoyed the latter with Paulina Carter at the piano. My boys in the Vine Street Chamber Group, of which I am the impresario, hold down first chairs in the symphony. One of them, Adrian Holland, violinist in the group, is concert master for the symphony.

Neville Motors To Show Ford's Latest Truck Line For 1952 This Friday

Ford's new truck line for 1952 offers the widest range of engines and power combinations in Ford Motor Company history, with models designed to fill 97 per cent of all modern hauling needs, according to Ira Neville, of Neville Motors, 7360 Mission street.

The new trucks will be introduced to the public Friday, February 1.

Neville said the 1952 truck line introduces a new sedan-delivery model called the "Courier" and offers five powerful engines, including three completely new high-compression, low friction overhead valve units.

In addition to the Courier, series F-1 through F-8 Ford trucks range from light pickup units of 114-inch wheelbase and 4,700 pounds Gross Vehicle Weight up to extra heavy-duty trucks with a maximum 195-inch wheelbase and Gross Combination Weight ratings up to 41,000 pounds.

"In addition to the three all-new engines, the horsepower and torque of the famous Ford 239 cubic-inch V-8 and the Ford Big Six engines have been increased to complete a five-engine power package for our eight basic truck series," Neville said.

The 239 V-8's horsepower was raised to 106 and its torque was increased to 194 pounds feet. The Big Six's new rating is 112 horsepower and torque of 217 pounds feet. All Ford engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines.

The three new low-friction truck engines are the Cost Clipper Six, a 101-horsepower unit, and the new Cargo King 145-horsepower and 155-horsepower V-8's.

"In exhaustive tests, the 145 V-8 achieved the greatest economy and smoothness with the highest horsepower-per-cubic-inch-displacement of any of the 10 leading models in the industry," Neville said.

DRIVING AT NIGHT

Wise motorists realize their limitations of vision when driving at night and conduct themselves accordingly, points out the National Automobile Club. While driving at night, especially in foggy or rainy weather, they decrease their speed and increase their alertness. By doing so, they help keep themselves safe.

Connecting Street

Decision Finally Reached On Route Between Broadmoor And Westlake

Two years of heated controversy appear settled today as plans proceed for a connecting street between Broadmoor and Westlake.

The first step was taken by the Jefferson elementary school board Thursday evening when the members submitted a resolution to the county board of supervisors calling for such a route.

As approved by the board, the street will run north and south from 87th street to the Westlake shopping center.

Bone of contention over the past two years has been the route of the street. The county planning commission held out for a street which would have cut through the playground of the Garden Village school.

Following a recent conference between H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of schools, and county officials, final agreement was reached on the route approved Thursday night by the board.

Not Ideal

From an engineering viewpoint this road is not ideal, but from the school board's view it is better than running a street through school property.

In turn for the connecting road, the county planning commission has agreed to abandon White street so as to allow construction of the new upper grade schools in that area.

Next step will be a public hearing, date of which is to be announced later. At that time protests wil lbe heard, if any, for such a road. Should more than two-thirds of these present object, the final decision would rest with the county superintendent of schools.

Objections

Several Broadmoor groups have been outspoken in their objection to any road between the two areas.

Other business of the school board last Thursday evening included:

1. Plans were approved for landscaping the Westlake school.
2. Parents from the Garden Village school requested the hardtop at the school should be kept clear of mud. They also requested action be taken to hardtop the area between the school and the sidewalk. Weibel said temporary relief will be forthcoming when construction starts on the second wing of the school next month.
3. It was reported the roofing job on the Westlake school is only a temporary affair. When weather permits, the roof will be torn off and "repaired properly," Weibel stated.

PROUD OF THEIR NEW AMERICAN FLAGS are the cub scout members of Pack No. 84. The flags were presented to each cub den by VFW Post No. 9921 last Thursday evening. Commander Godfrey Woods, center, made the presentation. At the same meeting the following boys were presented awards: Bobcat: Jerry Mannin, Mathew Dorn, Terry Christman, Ronny Sater, John Guz. Wolf, Jim Heick; Bear, Frank McCarthy; Lion, Scot Parker, Claude Anger. Arrows: Bob Goodwin, Ken Magoon, Douglas O'Leary, Howard McKee, Rick Sater. One year pins: Bill Savage, Don Harris, Webby Parker, William Parks, Claude Anger, Dennis McLani, Ed Heskett, Bob Braun. (Photo by Pat Corner)

NURSERY SCHOOL HAS OPEN HOUSE

Mrs. Merritt Beckerman was presented with a combination toaster-waffle iron at the open house held at the Broadmoor Village Play school on Sunday afternoon, January 27. Mrs. Del Guyman, recently elected president of the parent's group, made the presentation to Mrs. Beckerman, who is credited with having initiated the idea of the nursery school almost one year ago.

Board members of the Colma Community Center were among the visiting guests. They were Mrs. M. Pauline Brown, chairman; Mrs. Anne Flick, Michael Callan, Sr., and Stanford B. Hannah, superintendent of the Jefferson Union high school district.

The children of the nursery played with cookie dough, drank fruit juice and bathed rubber dolls.

Buffet Supper Next

The next regular meeting of parents will be held at the Westlake club house Tuesday, February 5, at 7 p.m. Following the business session a buffet supper will be served. Everybody who plans on attending the affair has been asked to bring some food toward the supper.

MARCH OF DIMES MOTHERS TO MARCH

Details of the "March of Mothers" this Thursday evening, January 31 have been completed in Daly City by the Parent Teachers Associations.

Residents wishing to donate to the March of Dimes are requested to turn on their porch lights this evening. Mothers will be out from 7 to 8 o'clock to collect.

Assisting the PTA in the Hillside Manor district will be the Friendly Neighbors, a group of women dedicated to aiding the community. Heading this group are Mrs. Sanford Vickers, and Mrs. Joseph Doyle.

Mr. Geddes, manager of the Daly City Theatre, reports the drive has done very well in his theatre. Thanks go to the PTA women who collected dimes during intermission, Geddes said.

CATHERINE NEVI

Mrs. Catherine Nevi, 72, wife of Pietro Nevi, 248 Los Olivos, Daly City, died in Hahneman hospital, San Francisco Wednesday, January 29, following a brief illness. Mrs. Nevi was a resident of this city for 45 years and is well known throughout the community.

Funeral services will be held Friday, February 1, at 9 a. m. from the mortuary of W. C. Lasswell & Co., 6154 Mission street, corner of Wilson. A requiem mass will be said at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Interment will be made in Holy Cross cemetery. Rosary will be recited Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the mortuary chapel.

Besides her husband Mrs. Nevi is survived by a son, Louis, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Bottomley and Mrs. Julia Posedel. Also surviving the deceased are grandchildren Joseph, Charles, Dolores, Marie, Charleen and Louann Nevi and Marilyn and Sally Ann Bottomley and William and Carol Posedel.

Sheriff Whitmore Approached By GOP As Possible Congressional Candidate

MRS. DORN HONORED BY V.F.W. AUXILIARY

Mrs. Ethel Dorn, for fourteen years the secretary of the Old Glory Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was presented with a "Life Membership" to the VFW National Home at the regular meeting of the group recently. The presentation was made by Sister Ruth Brulez, simultaneously with a brief resume of the many years of service given by the recipient of the honor toward both local, county, state and the national VFW activities.

Mrs. Dorn is a charter member of Old Glory Auxiliary and assisted at the organization of this group. She was the second president of the local auxiliary. Her work has extended to San Mateo and Santa Clara counties and the Twelfth District. She has served as chaplain, too.

Major developments in the county political scene this week included:

1. Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore announced he has been approached by the Republican leaders as a prospective candidate for congressman for San Mateo county. The 34-year-old sheriff has served in public office one year.

2. Dr. Harold F. Taggert, dean of men at San Mateo Junior college for 26 years, announced he will be a candidate on the democratic ticket for the same position.

3. Proctor Jones of Los Trancos Woods this week resigned as president of the county Young Republicans and entered his name as a candidate for congress on the GOP ticket.

This brings the prospective box score of congressional candidates to 3. Of these, 10 are Republicans and two are Democrats.

In the second round of interviews, four of the Republican aspirants will be screened by the county fact finding Republican committee tonight, January 31. They include: Mrs. Lucille Athearn, San Mateo; John J. Eshleman, Atherton; Henry F. Misselwitz, San Carlos; James Whitaker, Burlingame; and Sheriff Earl Whitmore.

Mrs. George Bertucci, Founders Day chairman and her committees have completed plans for the annual observance on February 5, 7:30 p. m. at the Colma Community center, Dunk street off Washington in Colma.

The past presidents and honorary life members of the unit will be honored guests. An honorary life membership will be given to the person elected by the committee headed by Mrs. Wm. Chessman.

They were fined for having a pugilistic setto at 6055 Mission street, where they were taken in tow by Sergeant Ricco Benedetti of the local police force.

Man Pleads Guilty To Drunk Driving; Jailed And Put On Probation

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Ever since Malcolm started Kindergarten way back in September, we two have played a daily game that goes something like this:

"Hello Malcolm! How was school today?" I ask, busily welding peanut butter, pam and bread into sandwiches. "Isn't it lots of fun?"

"Its all right——. I don't want milk, I want some green coolade without sugar in it."

"You have to have milk!" I say automatically, pouring out a glassful. "What did you do today? Paint? Sing songs?"

"No," says Malcolm, obviously twitching to get away from my prying.

Not daily, but every now and then, I drop by the school and talk to his teacher who is almost as uncommunicative as my young son. She smiles a warm comforting smile and listens to my questions with a half serious, half "don't worry your head about such things" look on her face. After five or ten minutes I go home ready to question Malcolm once more.

Only last week, however, Malcolm took a very late nap and when the witching hour of 10 p.m. rolled around he was fresh as a daisy and ready for conversation. Sitting on the edge of my bed with his feet tucked under him and blue eyes shining, he gave me the lowdown on the impact of Kindergarten on his mind and emotions . . . while I took surreptitious notes under the bedclothes.

ON TALKING:

"In school you can't talk unless the teacher tells you." Pause. "She never does!" Smug-looking expression. "Some children just keep talking and talking and then Mrs. E. Just punishes them!"

"How does she do that?" I ask, fearing the worst.

"They have to put their head down on the table or sit on a chair!"

ON PLAYING GAMES:

"Do you know what Mrs. E does right in the room?"

"No, what?"

"She plays that Farmer in the Dell stuff RIGHT IN THE ROOM!" Pause. "And Mrs. E. says, 'If you don't know how to play the game you have to play anyway because when you see the other children do it—the ones who know how—you WILL learn how,' —see?"

"It's against the law to play on the benches in the yard. Even if you're in the high grade it doesn't make any difference, it's against the law! But, we have lines in the yard like circles and things and we can play around those. Mostly the children just run around and hit each other, though."

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT:

"I know one thing the teacher should have did and she didn't do it! He, Cary, was hitting me and punching me and hitting me in the eyeball and she didn't even tell him anything!"

"Did she see him do it?"

"No"——

"How does the teacher punish you if you do something you shouldn't?" I ask, wondering if the truth will out. "Do you ever get punished?"

"I never got punished even once! I'm even TOO good at school! But some of the children have to sit in a corner or mostly just put their heads down. . ."

ON CREATIVE ACTIVITIES:

"We did chalk painting today and I drew the biggest diamond in the world! Maybe if I'm real careful and don't spill even one teeny drop—I'll get to paint on the easel."

"Did you tell Mrs. E. what you drew? I saw the picture at school, but it didn't say what it was and some of the pictures by the other children did."

Malcolm gave me a disgusted look that put an end to his confidences for the evening and said in a withering tone that included me:

"No, I didn't tell her! I guess she doesn't have to know EVERYTHING!"

Broadmoor Man Fined $75 After Fight With Cops

Refused To Sign Traffic Citation

A 6 foot, 280 pound Broadmoor accountant who took on four policemen December 21 when he refused to go peacefully to jail, was fined $75 in Justice court Tuesday.

Harry Hill, 33, 1832 Sweetwood drive, was fined $25 for failure to comply with an officer's direction; $50 for resisting arrest and given a 30 day suspended jail sentence for failure to sign a traffic ticket.

He was found guilty by Saul Ross, San Bruno city judge who sat in for Judge Thomas Bocci. Bocci disqualified himself, as he asserted an attorney friend of Hill's had attempted to influence him in favor of Hill. Bocci said he could not remember the name of the attorney.

Stiff Fight

Broadmoor Police Chief Paul Schmidt was the principal witness against Hill. He asserted on the evening of December 21 Sgt. Don Tanehill and Officer Val Olson had ordered Hill to stop his car in a routine traffic check. Hill complied, but when asked for his driver's license he refused, started up his car, and sped home.

The two officer called for help, and with Officers Harry Brown and Gail Galusha they followed Hill to his home. According to Chief Schmidt, Hill "put up a stiff fight," knocking over two of the officers. He was finally subdued, Chief Schmidt said, and spent that night in the county jail.

The chief said Hill had been arrested and found guilty of resisting arrest in August, 1949.

Titoni Pleads His Guilt; Faces Court Sentence Feb. 14

Surprising everybody in the Redwood City courtroom, Tony Titoni of Daly City changed his plea from not guilty to guilty midway in his trial this week on charges of a handbook at his cigar store at 6264 Mission street.

Sentence on Titoni, 36, will be passed by Superior Judge Murray Draper on Thursday, February 14.

In his testimony before the court recessed, Titoni corroborated everything the prosecution had presented against him. When the court reconvened Titoni entered his plea of guilty. By that time a jury was ready for its deliberations and all police testimony charging that officers had placed bets at the cigar store had been completed.

Titoni's case was the last in the Daly City cleanup of bookmaking. Speculation is rife hereabouts as to whether he will be given a long probation and a heavy fine as the others who were tried on similar charges.

New Studebaker Attracts Record Large Crowds

W. J. Sweeney & Son Showing '52 Model

The greatest display of public interest in new models since Studebaker introduced the first postwar cars in 1947 was reported by W. J. Sweeney & Sons, 6806 Mission, today as they took stock of the crowds attracted to their showrooms following the unveiling of the 1952 passenger car line a week ago.

According to W. J. Sweeney reports from dealer points indicate that retail orders for the "Starliner," hardtop convertible, will absorb scheduled production of this model until early spring.

"Judging from the attention given our new hardtop convertible, the 'Starliner' may prove to be the most popular body type in Studebaker history," Sweeney said.

Dealers are highly pleased with the phenomenal showroom attendance and the marked upsurge in interest resulting from the showings.

Annual Children's Dental Health Week Starts Monday

The Bay Area and the Peninsula is holding its annual "Children's Dental Health Week" between February 4 and 11. The purpose of the event, as in previous years, is to call attention to the spread of tooth decay among children by indicating a dental educational program throughout the community.

The theme of this year's dental health week is "Smile—and be proud of it." Stress is given to the fact that a bright, clean, sparkling teeth-smile adds immensely to one's personal appearance and attractiveness.

Following are some of the suggestions offered by dentists:

1—Brush your teeth within 10 minutes AFTER every meal for at least 3 minutes at a time.

2—Brush away from the gums. First, brush the "chewing" surfaces; then brush UP on the lower teeth, and DOWN on the upper teeth, reaching both inside and outside surfaces. See that the bristles get between you teeth.

3—Cut down on sweets in food and drink.

4—Visit your dentist regularly so he may help prevent future trouble.

Warning Statistics

1—Fifty per cent of the nation's two year olds have one or more decayed teeth.

2—The average 5 year old child has at least six teeth in the process of decay.

3—Tooth decay affects 98 per cent of the nation's boys and girls.

4—By the age of 16 average youth has at least 7 decayed, missing, or filled teeth.

5—During early days of World War II, draft rejections for poor teeth averaged 20 per cent—Army dentists alone filled 67 million teeth—performed 15 million extractions—made 2,400,000 dentures.

6—Sugar consumption has increased in the U. S. from an average of 10 pounds per person per year in early 1800's to 125 pounds per person now.

7—At present rate of decay, we may expect an average of 20 damaged teeth between 25-30; and at 65, twenty-five of our original 32 teeth damaged, filled, or missing.

Suggestions For Home Cleaning Stained Garments

Local Dry Cleaners Issue Handy Booklet

The Crocker Cleaners, 6215 Mission street, whose slogan reads "The Bay Area's Most Modern Cleaning Plant," have issued a handy and helpful booklet, containing innumerable money-saving suggestions for home cleaning of certain spots on clothes made of various fabrics.

Under "Tricks of the Trade," for instance, they list the following: apply facial and body deodorants only just before retiring, since most deodorants "are chemicals which may be gentle on the skin but, when freshly applied, may eat into the fabrics they touch."

They advise that articles about to be stored should first be either laundered or dry-cleaned because moths like to do their damage on greasy clothes.

In the language of the dry-cleaning trade the "spotter" is the detective who finds stains which would be unnoticeable to the average person. However, since different stains require different tests before dry-cleaning, you can help him if you know what caused the stain on your coat or dress, or decollete gown. That spot may look like a blood stain, but it may be catsup or red paint or merurochrome.

If you put the suit or dress you've just taken off on a hanger immediately, the wrinkles will disappear, because the garment retains your body's heat.

If you put garments on hangers wrong side out it will be right for keeping them clean longer.

That oily mark around the collar of men's or women's clothes may harden beyond possibility of dry-cleaning—unless you clean clear coat-collar hair lines with a cleaner which contains carbon tetrachloride at least once a week.

Hints About Drapes

Loose weave fabrics tend to shrink. After cleaning they may hang short. To prevent this the Crocker Cleaners suggest that you purchase longer lengths or ones with the "extra shrinkage hem," giving them the additional tuck which is easily pressed out.

As first aid to garments, administered in the home, the cleaners suggest that you never, never press a stained garment, since after that it is almost impossible to remove the stain.

Daub, don't rub stains. If you've tried to remove a stain and didn't quite succeed, tell the professional cleaner what you've done. This helps them in remedying the situation.

Cornmeal or French chalk may be used for home-cleaning. Work the powder into the stain on the right side of the fabric. Rub it "gently with the blunt end of a nail file."

Cold water also sometimes works, if used soon after the stain was made. But water will not work on either grease or oil stains.

The booklet issued by the Crocker Cleaners contains scores of other hints and suggestions. It is a valuable directive for home cleaning.

News of Your Local Businesses and Business Men

Most popular window in town of late is that of the Daly City Hardware store where those Nenstiels have done it again with enamelled cast iron ware from Belgium and France. Easy to wash, beautiful to look at with its orangy red outside and grey or white lining. These are just the pots and pans to hang on your wall or husbands. . . .

For that friend in need when little Johnny's friend has a birthday party without benefit of budget—try lovely Jane Duncan in Lee's Drug store at the top of the hill. She'll not only help you select a gift to fit your pocketbook, but wrap it to look like a million—and with a smile, too!

Seen in Hilltop Market last Wednesday? Practically every housewife in Daly City—and all grabbing up those luscious, little, fresh picked tomatoes in baskets. Concensus of opinion was that hothouses are wonderful for roses, but the family prefers FRESH tomatoes.

Safety—first, last and always—is the watchword of Mr. Augustine, who guards the Mission St. crossing at Vista Grande Ave. during school days. If those new signals at the top of the hill could catch the speeders like he does—there just wouldn't BE any speeders!

Joe Fresenborg, owner of the Farmer's Meat Co. and Budget Saving stores in Daly City, is thinking seriously of discontinuing his stocks of fancy canned chicken, turkey and such. Seems too many of the tins fit customers pockets—without denting their pocketbooks. . . . Maybe that's the reason most stores keep their butter practically in the cash register—or could it be the price, now. Me, my theme song is "Margy (rine), I'm always dreaming of you—

Ever notice how often Ted Hopman has to change those portable record players on display in his window? Seems they are just too popular to stay put. Probably because they play all types of records, are compact and colorfully cased—and shucks, let's not forget that price tag—it's reasonable!

The Daly City Pet Shop really started something when it sold Barbara Hartwell two of their baby palomino rats. They have now produced their first family, but don't worry Pet shop, she won't do you out of any business. Seems she can't bear to give the newcomers away—let alone SELL them.

Attention bargain hunters for young Hoppys' and husbands' clothing! Keep your eyes on Dubin's Men's shop on top of the hill. They have sneak sales so good you'll give up bargain bus riding forever. . . . Yes, they have Thrifty Saving Stamps, too!

WESTLAKE WALKAROUND

The lonely lady with the British accent and the helpful manner in the Crown Drug Store is Louise Park of London, England. She has been here for two years and likes it, but with six sisters back home in London—she can't quite like it enough. . . .

Steven McCarter, manager of Crown Drug, when asked about his delivery service, sang a song familiar to Druggists all over town, "A good delivery man is hard to find—." But don't disbelieve his ads for all of that: prompt delivery is guaranteed and by Mr. McCarter himself!

The Westlake Flower Shoppe certainly deserves greenback bouquets for its freshness in shop arrangement—as well as flowers! Audry Eves, charming saleslady, says, "Yes, everything in the shop is for sale—except the help." You'll want to buy it all, too!

The Tog Shoppe with a closed Monday sign on the door (open Sundays, though, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.) is still drawing admiring comments from Mayor Paul Green, San Francisco Glassman Hartley Appleton and Councilman Jim Kennedy for its out of this world men's clothing display. Me for the pink nylon numbers on the other side, though!

The new Gene Compton's tastes as good as it looks and that is really out of this world! If you can't stop to eat—try some of those luscious take homes in their bakery department! You'll soon be back for more.

Surprise bargain around Westlake: Those overnight bags in simulated snakeskin at the Crown Drug Co. . . they have a tray inset, large mirror, separate, velour lined stocking or jewel case and a moire lining—yep, pocket flaps, too. Comes in three colors—red, green and brown and the price? Just $14.95, including the luxury tax!—Gift nothing! I want one for myself!

BROADMOOR

Broadmoor buyers seem to have the drop on the rest of town what with being so close to Gamble's "Auto and Electric Supply" . . . Manager Ralph Ahlstrom seems to have a little of everything for sale from furniture and hardware to a top table . . . and sale signs that mean what they say!

Leslies, Broadmoor's high style shop for women has Clearance Sale in block print signs in its windows. Must be a good one, because they only carry the best!

Reader's Digest fans who got hepped up about the new "Glamorene" rug cleaner report in the last issue won't have to travel far to buy it. Charles Bried Co., better known as "The Rug Men" have it in stock, but quietly. Seems that men who know the business best—that's them—feel there is no real substitute for a thorough and professional cleaning job. I know, I know—but I won't be happy 'til I try the stuff just the same. Where is this place? Junipero Serra Blvd.—just ask the Serra Theater!

Veterans

Education Benefits Eligibility Noted

Immediate action was urged today upon all California veteran students who intend to take advantage of "Cal-Vet" educational assistance in the Spring semester and those who are about to run out of benefits under the GI Bill of Rights. The advice passed along by Floyd D. Granger, veterans service officers, San Mateo county, is:

"Come into the local service office right away, or go to the nearest office of the State Division of Educational Assistance. You will be helped to file both your application to establish eligibility and your application for educational assistance."

A veteran who waits until the Spring semester is actually under way may be filing his application too late for necessary action to be taken on it, Granger warned.

State Assistance

California veterans of World War II who have exhausted or nearly used up their Federal educational benefits under the GI Bill may be eligible for State assistance. This is given in the form of payment of tuition and fees, plus a subsistence allowance of $40 a month which may be increased to $50 a month to allow for the purchase of books and supplies by the veteran. Total State expenditure for any one student is limited to $1000. This fund is budgeted to help the veteran reach his educational objective.
